The GC unanimously approved the 2023 Governing Council and General Body meeting minutes.

The General Secretary presented the report of the activities held during 2024, summarised below.

ISMS secretariat made time-to-time communications about various announcements, notifications of the society, and various news items like Minutes of the meeting, ISMS bulletins and its notifications, conferences, workshops, and vacancies, etc., which were relevant for the members.

The secretariat closely worked with the Web coordinator, Dr. Prasanna Samuel, to update the ISMS website. Contents on several ISMS web pages have been updated, including past conference draft minutes of the GC and GB, audit reports, recent ISMS bulletins, copies of general communication for members, membership directory, etc., and have been duly uploaded.

Secretariat has taken initiative to create a database for various prestigious awards constituted by the society and will be duly updated and uploaded on website at the earliest.

The secretariat appreciated the effort of Prof. S.N Dwivedi, President-ISMS, to carry himself and handover Lifetime Achievement Award for 2023 to Prof. K. R Sundaram well before his last breath in Mumbai. Invitations have been sent to all ISMS awardees, including those applicable as per Search Committee's recommendations for the year 2024, to be present and receive their awards during the inaugural session of the ISMSCON-2024. All awardees have been kind enough to accept and make their presence today, except one due to unavoidable circumstances.

Until now, 35 new life members have been enrolled for the year 2024. Membership certificates to all new members have been sent by the treasurer, Dr. Ponnuraja, after thorough scrutiny of the applications and once membership fee payment got duly credited. Moreover, the membership directory of the ISMS is updated and uploaded on the website.

The Secretariat has made efforts to update e-mail IDs in the Google group. Currently, we have 856 e-mail IDs in the Google Group against nearly 1140 life members of the society. However, many of our senior members' e-mail IDs need to be updated in the existing directory. ISMS secretariat requests all esteemed members to update the contact details of other known members and get involved in this mission.

The ISMS secretariat closely worked with the conference secretariat in day to day planning for organizing the 2024 annual conference including finalizing scientific programs, organising inaugural function, other society activities and meetings during the conference.

The conference started with two pre-conference workshops organised today. As usual, many ISMS awards will be awarded in person during the conference inauguration. The conference secretariat has planned a keynote address by Prof. Abhaya Indrayan during the inaugural session. Immediately after the inauguration, we have Prof. S.K. Bhattacharya Oration by Prof. L Jeyaseelan, Past President of the ISMS and Former Professor of Biostatistics, CMC, Vellore; followed by Prof. P.P. Talwar's Lecture for the year 2024 by Prof. Madhulekha Bhattacharya, NIHFW, New Delhi. Moreover, special scientific/plenary sessions will be arranged on Day 1 as a tribute and honour to our society's past presidents, (Late) Prof. K.R Sundaram and (Late) Prof. Arvind Pandey.

Further, on Day 1 of the conference evening, we will have the General body meeting of the society. On day 2, Prof. R.N. Srivastava's award competition is scheduled in the forenoon. This year, we have received three applications for this competition. The scientific program and other details were circulated to all registered members, and uploaded to the conference website by the conference secretariat.

The Secretariat has received one proposal from Dr. M. Rajeswari, Department of Biostatistics, AIIMS, Mangalagiri, Andhra Pradesh, to host the 2025 annual conference. She is a GC member and the secretariat has requested Dr. Rajeswari, to attend the GC and GB Meetings -2024 and make a presentation.

ISMS Secretariat has received a proposal to start a new endowment in the name of the Late Prof. C.M Pandey, Former President of the ISMS. This proposal was submitted by Prof. Pandey's son, Mr. Apoorv Chetan, along with a cheque worth Rs. 5,00,000/- (Five lakhs rupees). As per society's rule, this proposal has been reviewed by the President, President (Elect), General Secretary and Treasurer. Later, the President of the ISMS, Prof.S.N Dwivedi, constituted a sub-committee to frame the rules for the new award proposal. This committee was led by Prof. B.L Verma as Chair, Prof. N Sreekumaran Nair, Prof. L Jeyaseelan, and Dr. B Binukumar, as the committee members to examine this matter. This committee's draft recommendation will be submitted to the GC, and the GC's suggestions in this regard will be obtained.

Finally, the General Secretary's report concluded with a thanking message to all members including all ISMS committees, Chairs and its members, Nominations committee, Search committee, Awards committee, conference organizing secretariat, etc. for their kind cooperation and support for various ISMS activities.

Regarding General Secretary's report, Prof. B.L Verma opined that the reports should reach the members well in advance to the members and also requested the GC to initiate some membership campaign drive to increase it. Moreover, he requested the secretariat to identify a few senior members from different regions who could update the members' emails and other contact details missing from the directory. Prof. Sreekumaran Nair said that the society made several attempts to update the directory with the help of the web sub-committee. Dr. Harichandrakumar opined that the society should initiate some training programmes at regular intervals. Some partial amounts accrued from bank interest on general fixed deposits may be utilized for capacity-building training programs. GC approved the General Secretary's report after including these suggestions.

After the general secretary's report, Dr C. Ponnuraja presented the Treasurer's report. He briefed the members about the current financial status of the society and circulated the audited statements for FY 2023-'24.

The GC requested the Treasurer to use the appropriate headings against the expenditures in the audited statement and asked to maintain a hardcopy register of individual award-wise and other FD-wise accounting for future use. Further, Dr Ponnuraja suggested issuing a hardcopy certificate/ a printed PVC card towards the ISMS life-membership for the new members as many new members request the certificate in hard copy. GC debated this issue, asked Dr Ponnuraja to explore the feasibility and cost incurred, and to present it in the next GC meeting. GC approved the Treasurer's report.

The bulletin editor, Dr. Binu V.S., presented his report. He mentioned that two issues of bulletin have been prepared and circulated to the members before the conference. Dr Binu raised a major concern regarding the lack of submission of required technical and news items by the members for bulletin. He requested support from all members to bring out the Bulletin regularly. Prof. B. L Verma suggested identifying a few key members and contacting them from the bulletin desk for submission of their work. GC approved the bulletin editor's report.

This award will be given once a year to a young scientist (including an early career researcher) who is the first author of the best-published paper. Prof. B L Verma briefed about the finalised award

Prof. B. L Verma briefed about the Report of the Constitution Amendment Committee -2024. There are some recommendations related to eligibility criteria for life membership, renaming of Prof. P.P Talwar's lecture award as Prof. P.P Talwar Oration, etc. Prof. Verma pointed out that these recommendations would be uploaded to the society's website and circulated to the members through the Google group. Later, taking into account suggestions (if any), it can be finalised in the subsequent GC.

GC debated the enhancement of seed money usually given to the conference organisers of the Annual Conferences and decided to increase it to ₹ 25,000/- (Rupees twenty-five thousand only) instead of ₹ 10,000/- (Rupees ten thousand only) presently.

GC further discussed about possible waiving of the registration fee & providing free accommodation for senior members invited to receive ISMS awards, especially the Lifetime Achievement Award and Prof. S.K Bhattacharya Oration. The GC approved it in principle and advised the secretariat to talk to the organising secretaries of the ensuing conferences well in advance regarding the necessary arrangements.

Regarding the concerns about the renewal of society's registration, Dr. C.B Tripathi, Chair of the related sub-committee & a GC Member, briefed us on the undertaken steps. Prof. Dwivedi informed GC that he received repeated invitations from Prof. Umesh Kapil, Secretary, National Academy of Medical Sciences (NAMS), New Delhi, to provide consent to join this helpline and extend statistical help to the medical students in the country virtually. In spite of this, he regretted in this regard. Also, he wrote to Dr Kapil that if authorities want to ensure quality teaching and quality research through quality training, there has to be a separate department of biostatistics with sufficient faculty/scientists on the lines of AIIMS, New Delhi, in every medical college and related research institutes of the country. He emphasized that there is no shortcut for quality research leading to quality evidence for public health/ clinical practice. However, Prof. Dwivedi informed to the GC that the ICMR-NAMS National Biostatistics Helpline was launched in September 2024 where many of the ISMS members participated.
